WINNIPEO, Man., April 27.—It was re ported here last night that the rebels had made an attack on Middleton. What Middleton's movements will now be it is difficult to say. Without reinforcements, and as the only available battalions are at Swift Current and cannot reach him before ten days, he is in a dilemma. Prince Albert must be relieved, and if he falls back this cannot be done. Then if he remains where be is the supplies will give out, and it is now understood that the river is so low that neither supplies nor troops can be forwarded Then there is danger of the enemy cutting off his retreat and capturing the supplies.

Experienced military men say the position is most critical and express their belief that the whole army will be cut to pieces. In-tense excitement now prevails as no word has been heard from him for six hours.

has been heard from blin for six hours.

A messenger from Clark's Crossing says no couriers have arrived from Middleton's camp since Friday night. The country between the crossing and the camp is being scoured by rebels, hence the absence of any news. It is believed here that another battle has taken place. A report has just been received that nine of the wounded have died. There are only two doctors to look after the entire lot.

Latest advices from the front report that General Middleton's forces are consolidated and encamped in the open country, Swif Current being the nearest point prepared to defend against night attacks by the rebels defend against night attacks by the rebels. His troops are in good condition and a decisive engagement is anticipated in a few days. Sergeant Dalton, a courier from Middleton's headquarters to Clark's Crossing, reports the death of Arthur Watson, of the Toronto School of Infantry, who died Friday night, making a total of seven deaths. The wounded are doing well and will be removed to Clark's Crossing as soon as possible.

Advices show that the fight at Fish Greek proved to be more disastrous to the rebel-than was at first supposed. Twenty-five are known to have been killed, as that number of bodies were counted, among which was Gabriel Dumont, Riel's Lieutenant. It is reported that Riel was in the ravine during Friday's engagement and had returned to Batouche for reinforcements. The nex ne disease in His Throat Spreading all the Time-Believed that the Patient will Survive the Summer Without Relapse.

NEW YORK, April 25.-General Grant did got get settled for the night until about one o'clock in the morning. He received five minims of morphine, and after one o'clock he slept at intervals. The sore at the base of the tongue appeared angry and the restsix and eight o'clock in the morning the pa-tient slept most of the time, and when he awoke and his throat was examined there were more favorable indications than when Dr. Donglas left in the morning. He said the General had passed a very quiet night, though ais sleep was somewhat broken. So far as the physical condition of General Grant is verecased by mich with safety herees were concerned, he might with safety be removed to the mountain or seaside to-day, but no shange will occur until the 1st of July. That the General will survive the summer is the belief of those in position to judge the possibilities. He will, it is thought, pass the summer without relapse, but the recur-rence of cold weather will perhaps effect a change that is not desirable to anticipate at this time of improved conditions.

The disease in my father's throat is spreading all the time, says Jesse Grant.
This is also the belief of the other members This is also the belief of the other of the family and of all the attending physicians. There was no great change in the General's condition Saturday, but it was thought he was a little weaker. The doctors say privately almost every day that the cancer is steadily approaching a fatal stage. It has not been arrested by the recent general improvemen in the system. One of the doctors said, a few days since, that the cancer must prove fatal within two months, unless it acts contrary to what has been medical experience and observation for centuries. They do not encourage the plans which are talked of for taking the General into the country. Dr. Douglas called at the house at ten o'clock at night and intended to return home, but after examining the return's threat disputach his excitor. the patient's throat, dismissed his carriag and remained all night. The General shows fatigue during the evening, and some appre-bension was felt at the retiring hour, for his comfort, though none for his safety during

The Meeting Between Earl Granville and dial-The Admiralty Explosion Attributed to Malice.

THE FRENCH-EGYPTIAN EMBROGLIO. LONDON, April 27.—Saturday's Cabinet Council gave some of its time to the French-Egyptian incident, which helped out by a arge body of French troops through the Suez Canal, the reinforcement of the French naval forces in the Egyptian waters, and the recall of the French representatives has naturally attracted more attention than so small an affair as the supposition of a news-paper offensive and hostile to the Govern-ment of a country would do under ordinary inces. The general opinion here is that the matter can be met by a frank explanation of the reason why the paper was en_aged in military operations, the country has recently been the scene of a military uprising, is still under military laws, and in the occupation of a foreign military power. It has always been the custom to deal sharply and summarily, under such circum-stances, with newspapers assuming the po-sition of the Bosphore-Egyptica, and the French Government has shown a wholesome example in that respect. Government officials here refuse to regard the matter in a serious light, and pooh pooh the inference based on the incident, that an offensive and defensive alliance has been entered into between France and Russia, making every allowance for the sensitiveness of France, which was the bugaboo again trotted out yesterday, Downing Street is tenderly solicitous that reasonably ask for should be conceded, but thinks if France has really made up her mind to batter the British fleet and the Egyptian ports to pieces, the sooner she shows her hand the better it will be for all shows her hand the better it will be for all Europe. At the close of the cabinet meeting Lord Granville left to prepare a conciliatory but firm note to France, pointing out the principles involved, inviting a francexchange of views on the points submitted, and deprecating hasty action as unworthy the two countries whose interests are supposed to be involved by this wretched tempest in a teapot.

The bland assurances of Scotland Yard detectives that the Admiralty office, explored.

detectives that the Admiralty office explo-sion was the result of personal malice, has had the expected soothing effect on the publie mind and temper of the members of the Government, whose consciences acquit them of the charge of tyrannizing over their subordinates. If Swainson was really blown up by a subordinate, there ought to be no difficulty in finding out the culprit. No out-sider could have entered Swainson's room without the watchman being aware of it. The effect of these explosions has been to render matters somewhat uncomfortable for officials of Irish extraction, of whom there is a larger percentage in proportion to popu-lation than of any other nationality.

A high official in the War Office expressed himself as follows: "Unless events force our fland, there will be no declaration of war for a fortnight or longer." A prominent for a fortnight or longer." A prominent contident of the executive declared to me at the War Office, "Why a fortnight?" "Because England will never again wage a first-class war on land single-handed and her allies are not ready."
"But the Government has allowed the statement to go forth that a limit has been received in the African frontier negritation.

reached in the Afghan frontier negotiations.

Do you mean to say that the Ministry will do nothing if Russia settles the question by seizing and holding the frontier she claims?" "It may seem strange, but it would not surprise me if such an event was to happen. The negotiations with the Ameer left Dufferin no chance but to advise the Government to leave Afghan-istan to fight her own battles. We have had a costly experience of what a campaign in Afghanistan means and should relish Russia enjoying similar experience by way of a beginning. At a heavy cost in life and treas-ure, we have won a scientifically selected frontier in Afghanistan. Behind that frontier we shall rest secure within easy disthe first great battle is to decide the question of British or Russian supremacy is fought, it at battle is to decide the question will be on ground of our own choosing. The Mahommedans of India are the best soldiers in the native British army, and the Mohammedans are bitterly hostile to Russia. We are not a military nation in the modern sense, and we are utterly unfit to cope with Russia on dry land, beyond our boundaries. sense, and we are utterly unfit to cope with Russia on dry land, beyond our boundaries, in our present condition. There would have to be a conscription and a general levy on the modern scale, if we are to put armies into the field to meet Russia in Afghanistan and Europe. We have material enough, in the islands and in India, to raise and equip as many armies as may be ssary, and there are not wanting men in the Government, in the War Office and more particularly in India, who are of the opinion that it will have to come to a conscription But the Ministry at present in power are opposed to anything in the remotest degree approaching a substitution of a coercive for the voluntary system. If a Conservative Ministry were to come into power, we might find ourselves in a land campaign with a first-class military nation and a conscription for army and navy within a few days.

"We look for no alliance therefore. The War Office is not expecting to come to close quarters on land with Russia in Central Central Asia just yet. Turkey may be forced to become an ally, and so may Austria, in spite of themselves. Austria has her own quarrel with Russia, and we have no desire to meddle in it, and there are powerful reasons why we should prefer the friendly co-operation of Italy. Italy is a good balance to Austria, and Germany to France. There remains Turkey, and the main question with her is money and the safety of Constanti-nople. Under present circumstances, Rus-sia and England are not likely to come to lows in northern Afghanistan.

"Where the opposition offered assumes the shape of paper protests, it may take a long time before we come to lead and steal. Still precipitate events and active operations mence simultaneously in Europe and Asia at any moment."

The relations between the English and Russian governments are daily becoming more strained. Notwithstanding the guarded atterances of the Ministers to the negotiations now going on between the two sauntres, it is evident that the Russian Govsymment is determined to inforce all its claims with regard to the Russo-Afghan boundary. The action of its representative has given rise to much indignation and has greatly intensified the feeling against that Ohio Penitentiary. Colombus, O., April 27.—Chief Justice Hines, of Kentucky, who has been in the city for the past few days, gave an accounof the escape from the penitentiary here of the famous Confederate raider. John Morgan, which settles that much discussed subject. Judge, then Captain, Hines, with his chief and sixty-eight others, were captured early in November, 1863, while raiding through the southern part of Ohio, and himself planned and executed the successful delivery.

He says that he discovered that but two feet below the floor of the tier of cells is which himself and six others were confined ran an air chamber, or sewer, which empties outside the prison walls. He dug his way down through the cement floor of his cell until he struck the sewer, secreting the debris in his bed after each day's work. Once in the sewer he easily located the cells of his companions and in twenty-two days had dug a hole through the thin floor of each cell large enough for them to someone. cell large enough for them to squeeze through. midnight they dropped into the air chamber and groped their way toward the outlet. They were dismayed to find the mouth of the chamber completely filled up. Fortunately for them they were but a few feel below the surfabe of the ground. After tunnelling upward for a short distance, they found themselves in the prison yard. The night was cold and dreary, a heavy rair falling at the time, so that they had little to fear from the guards, who were well under cover. To scale the wall was the work of a cover. Exchanging Ratifications of the Treaty for the Expedition of Fugitive Criminals Between the United States and Italy.

AFFAIRS ON THE ISTHMUS.

WASHINGTON, April 27. Secretary Whitney has received the following dispatch from Admiral Jonett, respecting the recent action of United States forces at Panama:

of United States forces at Panama:

It was absolutely necessary to occupy Panama to protect transit and American property. The safety of Panama and American interests is secured by this move. Your instructions were published in Panama papers. No misunderstanding will result. Government officials will arrive soon, when everything will be turned over to them and we will withdraw.

To this dispatch the Secretary replied as

While deprecating any unnecessary interference, you will exercise your best judgment from time to time after consultation with the American Consul and others. The general scope of your duty has been here-tofore sufficiently defined, and as to what military interference is necessary from time to time to carry out former instructions, you must necessarily be the judge, always keeping in mind that the necessity is regretted here.

STORM N THE SOUTHWEST. A Perfect Deluge in Trinity River, Texas

-Three Persons Drowned. DALLAS, April 27 .- The great rise in the Trinity River, caused by the five-hour deluge Friday night on the headwaters, now rushing down and the river, is like a sea. The damage to property along the stream is immense, and the suburbs of the city are submerged. Hundreds of families have been driven from their homes, the water reaching nearly to the roofs in many cases. The greatest alarm prevails as there are no indications when the inundation will stop. The Houston & Texas Central, the Texas Trunk and the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe roads were forced to suspend operations Saturday night. The Missouri Pacific sussaturacy night. The Missouri Paelife sus-pende to Tuesday last, and the Texas & Paelife Railroad is alone in partial opera-tion. Four immense railroad bridges and the public bridge over the Trinity River at this point are all in danger of being swept away. Their aggregate cost amounts $1,000,000. Ebenezer Wilkins was drowned four miles below the city Saturday night. Lemuel Alcorn, a boatman, was drowned between Dallas and Fort Worth Saturday morning and a young lady, name not learned, was drowned in White Rock Creek, near this city Saturday.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 27.—The first train since Thursday arrived Saturday over the International Railroad. The passengers re-port a terrific hall storm Friday night about midnight near Taylor, forty miles east of here. The hallstones were very large and broke the headlight of the locomotive and the coach windows and badly battered the tops and exposed sides of the cars. In the track of the storm farms were undoubtedly track of the storm farms were undoubtedly devastated and it is probable that a large number of sheep were killed, as it is a woolgrowing country.
